The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the cultural context of the research. It highlights the need for researchers to be sensitive to the values and beliefs of the communities they are studying. This is particularly important in the field of education, where cultural differences can significantly impact learning outcomes.

The second part of the paper focuses on the methodology used in the study. It describes the qualitative approach adopted, which involves in-depth interviews and focus group discussions. The researchers aimed to explore the experiences and perceptions of the participants, rather than testing a specific hypothesis.

The third part of the paper presents the findings of the study. It discusses the various themes that emerged from the data, such as the role of family in education and the influence of community norms. The researchers found that there were significant differences in the way that different cultural groups viewed education and learning.

The final part of the paper discusses the implications of the findings for practice. It suggests that educators and policymakers should take into account the cultural context of their students when designing educational programs. This could involve providing additional support for students from disadvantaged backgrounds or incorporating culturally relevant content into the curriculum.

MR. ARLEY G. KERR

Editor's note: Mr. Kerr is retiring after the 1963-64 school year. His successor will be Mr. Norris. We wished to express our thanks to Mr. Kerr for letting us publish his parting thoughts.

The two greatest incentives are work and responsibility. They are the greatest character builders ever known.

Struggling for an education will help you develop patience, persistence and capacity for work which will help to make your success possible. You young people in America today need challenges in order to grow.

If you are going to keep America great you must be able to face up to hardship and problems of the greatest magnitude. When problems and pressure disappear—or the people of a nation are unwilling to face them—our civilization will start to wither and die. To be great, near great, or just plain competent, people need challenges and problems to grow on. You cannot build character or develop your abilities without them.

What you need today are some disadvantages instead of advantages. If our nation is to remain great, you must accept challenges and carry them through to a successful solution. You must face up to adversity and overcome it. You cannot develop character muscles without problems to grow on.

High School Staffs Strive To Improve

Graduates of 1964:

Congratulations and the best of wishes to each of you;

During your three years in the Senior High School, you have, as a class, made many fine contributions to your school. You have been a friendly class, a willing class, and a well-mannered class. Individually, several of you have brought distinction to yourselves and to your school and community.

Invariably a senior graduating class is remembered by others because of a certain trait. As your Principal, I shall remember you as a class which was ever loyal. Your fine spirit and your many efforts to make your school a better one mark you indelibly as a class which will always be remembered with satisfaction.

We who remain hope that we have helped you along the way and that each of you will be better for having studied and played at H.H.S. these past Years.

In conclusion, I hope that you will remember your school with pride, and that you find truth and appreciation for your school in the lines from a school song which I remember:

"May we cherish thy traditions,
Hold thy banner high;
Ever guard thy name and glory,
Live to do or die."

Good luck, each and all.

Harold Moody

Dear Class of 1964,

Moments to remember—your this year's yearbook is a record of many moments you wish to remember from your high school life. Let's stop just a minute to consider what makes these moments so memorable for you—why you have happy times to remember. Haven't you made these moments to remember? Isn't it because you studied hard and made good grades that you were able to attend and have fun at the N.H.S. pizza supper? Or that you practiced diligently for track and debate, made the team, so making moments there to remember? And those happy times with good friends—didn't they come about because of your efforts to be a good friend?

Therefore, I wish that in the future you will continue to work hard, to contribute service, and to give love and understanding to others so that you will "grow" only happy moments to remember.

Laren Bowman has his notebook checked by Mrs. Cook while Jim Cabczak looks on in junior English.

The Language Arts Department offered for the first time a developmental reading lab. Mrs. Barbara Sommers was in charge of the lab which sought to correct poor reading habits of students, aid their comprehension; and in other cases, improve speed for college-bound students.

The importance of good English cannot be stressed enough; therefore, four years of English are required. Sophomore and junior English consisted of grammar and literature.

Sophomore literature was concerned with the most outstanding writers and their works. Silas Marner, written by George Eliot, was the novel studied by the sophomores.

Junior literature pertained to the works of American authors. Juniors started with the symbol writing of the Delaware Indians and was completed with the modern writers.

Most Seniors took grammar, English literature, and composition. Although literature was mainly concerned with the English authors, a few Scottish and Irish authors could be found. Composition and grammar helped the students to achieve better writing abilities.

A familiar place to all students was the school library headed by Mrs. Bailey. Books on any topic could be found here for reference or enjoyment. Besides being open during classes, students were able to enjoy library facilities during lunch hour.

Fine Arts Adds Variety to a Scholastic

The art classes have made many things this year. Pat Milar, Judy Ammer, and Barbara Fidrych are working on some of the projects.

Because a democracy is based on freedom of speech, a person should know the fundamentals of speech making. In first year speech, impromptu and demonstration speeches were given along with round table discussions and debates. Upon completion of a speech, the class criticized the presentation.

Resolved: "That the United States Government will procomplete medical care to all citizens at public expense" was the debate topic used during the year.

Advanced speech, known as dramatics, helped the students to appreciate good drama and to understand the principal rules of play production.

The fine art classes of music and art contributed talent to the school year. Under the direction of Mr. Benson, the A Cappella and the Treble Choir presented many fine programs.

The Hobart Band, under the direction of Mr. Rogers, and Mr. Chilion, presented excellent instrumental entertainment in convocations and concerts.

Around Christmas season, a Nativity scene was seen on the lobby windows. The necessary hard work done by the art classes under the supervision of Mrs. Cicok.

Curriculum

Mr. Benson practices with the A Cappella Choir for the Choral Festival.

Mr. Rogers very industriously leads the band at the Fall Concert.

Mr. Neff reads to one of his Spanish classes while enthusiastic students listen.

Mr. Black and Terry Daves, illustrate some of the projects made by Latin students to Mr. Black's classes.

Language Classes

In this age of the "shrinking mile," increasing emphasis has been placed on the study of foreign languages. The Hobart High School, in accordance with this trend, offered four languages—Spanish, German, French and Latin. The four facets of speaking, listening, reading, and writing were taught. In addition to this, the student learned the cultural background of the countries that speak that language.

The Spanish students learned about our great Spanish heritage, for our West and South were first settled by Spaniards. The Spaniards left us Spanish place names, gave us the fiesta customs, and added to our everyday speech such words as hacienda, siesta, rancho, and burro. Second and third year Spanish classes were only offered this year.

Only one German class, combination of first and second year students, was held. At Christmas time the second year students put on a play, and the entire class learned German Christmas carols. Auf wieschen and madchen were some words that were familiar to the German students.

French was added to the curriculum for the first time this year. Fifty-two students became acquainted with such words as bonjour, ca va, and au revoir. Mrs. Friedrich, a new member to the faculty was the French teacher.

Latin was the only language that did not use the language laboratory. This year there were fourth year students who continued to strengthen their vocabulary and to learn further about the customs of the Romans.

Mrs. Friedrich prepares one of her classes for lab.

Utilize Laboratory Facilities

Bob Gibson and Diane Fifield including three other students prepare to listen to one of the French tapes.

Joe Seed and Betty Tadd are seen working busily at their typing assignments.

Hopefuls to be clerks, stenographs, bookkeepers, and receptionists were found in many of the business courses.

Shorthand, along with notehand, helped the student to improve his speed in taking dictation notes. In shorthand the student transcribed material of increasing difficulty on the typewriter.

By taking typing, the students developed speed and accuracy in using a typewriter. He also learned to type various things such as carbon copies.

To educate the student in the basic principles of business, general business was offered. Office practice gave the student the opportunity to get first-hand experiences in the business field. In office practice the students learned to operate the various office machines. Since there will always be a need for neat and accurate records, bookkeeping was offered. Business English and Business Law, were two additional business courses lasting only one semester each.

Commerce Students Prepare For Future

Theresa Sihaven operates the ten key adding machine with Miss Tadd ready to catch her mistake.

Social Studies Increase Knowledge

Mr. Edquist discusses U. S. History with one of his classes.

Hobart High School offered a wide variety of social studies courses this year. To know one's country is an absolute necessity in this world; therefore, all the students were required to take U.S. History and government.

In U.S. History the juniors began their study with the early explorers and moved toward the modern age. The seniors in Government class learned all about the three branches of our government—legislature, judicial and executive.

Latin American History, economics and Asian-African History each lasting one semester, were three of the many electives offered. The achievements of the world were studied in the World History classes.

Do you know what mass media, eugenics, psychosomatic, and narcissism mean? The sociology and psychology students used such words in class.

Sociology helped students to better understand the problems of society, while psychology helped them to understand themselves and their personal problems. The students discussed many controversial issues in their classes and they took some public opinion polls. As opportunities presented themselves, the Students took field trips to institutions where the problems of society are handled.

Mr. Trammel emphasizes his point.

"Are you with us?" questions Mr. Dean during one of his geometry classes.

Mathematics is a language. It has its own vocabulary, its own grammar, and its own literature. It is the language best suited for the discussion of exact quantitative concepts. Due to the advancements made in science, the importance of this field has been increasing. Without at least a rudimentary knowledge of the subject an individual is automatically barred from many activities of our age.

Most of the sophomores were required to take geometry. This course helped the students to increase the power of observations, to develop an appreciation for the need of the logical proof and to strengthen their ability to read mathematics with understanding.

Plane geometry was concerned with the proofs of postulates and theorems, while solid geometry was concerned with various formulas pertaining to volume, area and perimeter of three dimensional objects.

The course in second year algebra, it is assumed, was chosen by two different groups of students. One group is prepared for college or professional courses that required more advanced techniques than could be developed in first year algebra. The other group consisted of students who showed ability in mathematics and who enjoyed the subject even though they had no immediate plans for pursuing more advanced studies.

The aim of trigonometry was to enable the students to grasp trigonometric principles and to apply them in the various fields of mathematics and science.

Future Homemakers Learn Cooking, Sewing

The girls in the Home Ec classes are eager to learn the techniques of cooking.

Cindy Stefanchik and Lorlei Wells are working on one of their Home Ec projects.

Home Economics today consists of more than simply learning to cook and sew. Home nursing, childcare, planning a budget, selecting, financing, and furnishing a home are equally important. In addition to this, the home economics classes encouraged cleanliness, health, and development of wholesome personalities.

During the cooking classes the students learned to prepare various meals, and to serve them properly, purchasing food economically, planning meals and preparing diets.

In sewing classes the girls gained a knowledge of the various kinds of material, the garments that can be made out of each fabric, and finally how to make the garment. Thus, the girls learned to make clothes professionally and inexpensively.

In the home economics showcase, the students in the school saw clothes that the sewing girls had made and displayed, or the clothing worn in other countries. Lorlei Wells was the winner in the Hobart High School Betty Crocker homemaker contest. The test covered all the phases of home economics.

Judy Amber, Cindy Hill, Terry Curtis, Carolyn Kazyra, and Barb Phillips participate in a game of basketball.

Gym Encourages Student Sportsmanship

Two sophomores enjoy the sport of boxing.

Sophomore boys and girls, who were required to take physical education, really enjoyed these classes because it enabled them "to let off steam."

With the present setup of both girls and boys classes in the gymnasium at the same time, the effectiveness of many of the activities was lessened. Another hindrance was the overcrowded classes.

The girls, under the supervision of Miss Reisinger and student assistants, were taught the rules and regulations of various games such as volleyball, basketball, and deck tennis, also wiffleball.

Under the guidance of Mr. Kurth, the boys were taught tumbling, apparatus work, weightlifting, basketball, and softball. The boys were given the President's Fitness Test for the youth of America.

Grades were given on the basis of physical fitness, knowledge of activities, character and citizenship, attendance and preparations.

Hard at work is Dave Metz as Miss Stewart stands by ready to assist him in Advanced Biology.

Science Unfolds To Students Through Laboratories

Jane Griescher, Elaine Webb, Jenny Freeland, and Jerry Dodgson, study the elements of Physics.

A mastery of science is encouraged for all students of the "modern age" because of its importance to world peace and medicine. Also Science strengthens our appreciation of what the world has to offer. The science students developed clearer thinking, learned laboratory techniques and gained a concrete basis for further study.

The sophomores were required to take first year biology. Here they studied life processes in plants and animals. The students learned the characteristics, reproduction and commercial use of these things. By dissecting, the students gained further knowledge. Advance biology students covered a more detailed study of animal life.

Chemistry, the science which studies and explains facts about substances, their composition, and changes they undergo, was studied by many of Hobart's students. A large portion of time was spent in the laboratory where the students experimented.

Physics is the branch of science which treats laws and properties of matter, light, heat, sound and electricity.

Working on one of his drafting projects is Dennis Donaldson.

Drafting, print shop, workshop, and machine shop were the four vocational classes offered this year. These industrial art classes provided understanding of, and experiences with, tools, materials, and processes of our industrial and technical age.

The draftsman gained knowledge in measurements, the ability to visualize an object and then draw it, and developed a skill using drawing instruments.

The print shop was responsible for most of the print items used at school. Attendance pads, school passes, programs, and signs were several of the accomplishments.

The woodshop classes required hurdles for the track team and made night sticks for the Hobart Civil Defense Police. Every student was required to make a project of his own choice. Coffee tables, gun racks, and bookcases were displayed in the showcase. Drill press, table saw, and various power hand tools were used by the woodshop boys.

Machine shop, another one of the exploratory courses, acquainted the students with the removing of metal by a mechanical means. This year the boys were required to finish several projects, such as the bomb paper weight, the "C" clamp and nut-crackers.

Vocational Art

Working on the lathe are Dave Emmel and Ed Carlson.

Woodshop classes offer a great deal of projects to work on. Tom Gott, Steve Sutherland, Bill Ellenburger, and Denny Derbyshire are working on their projects.

"We will have these moments to remember" was chosen as this year's theme for Hobart High's 1964 Memories. The staff worked long, hard hours to complete this yearbook, but the experience gained has been worth the work and effort.

Each page was handled many times before it was completed. The preparing of a mock dummy, the taking and cropping of pictures, the writing of the copy, headlines, and captions were a very few of the tasks needed for each page. The work was done by the editors and assistants who assisted in various tasks or sections.

We, the members of the staff, wish to express our gratitude to everyone who helped to make this yearbook a success.

Staff Gives HO-HI

Business staff members checking over ads and figures are Danna Sumichrast, assistant business manager; Cheryl King, business manager; Tylla Harrell, advertising manager; and Sandy Cary, assistant ad manager.

Typists for the newspaper were Nancy Griffiths and Dixie Cheney, who surround staff artist, Kathy Parrish.

Circulation of the newspaper was carried out by Debby Grase, Niki Lautzenhiser, and Barb Shirley.

LIFE New Look

Many new changes were evident in the Ho-Hi Life this year. Toward the end of the year, the staff changed the basic format of the paper to a smaller size, which enhanced the appearance of the paper.

The staff decided to change publisher's and moved to our own Ho-Hi press after two years with the Herald Newspapers, Inc. With the new multilith arrangement in our print shop, the newspaper will now be published every two weeks instead of monthly, as it was in the past.

The staff entered the Ho-Hi Life in the National Scholastic Press Association ratings and after one semester found the paper to be a third-class one. The photographers in the journalism department were rewarded when it was discovered that the paper's photography received the maximum amount of points.

Responsible for the News Bureau was Bette Jo Davis and Linda Collins.

Staff members for the newspaper were Liz Morris, feature editor; Marge Sandor, assistant feature editor; Gayle Gleason, associate editor; and Pat Patterson, sports.

Proceeds From Student Council's Donkey

Jose Verdiell, our foreign exchange student, shows how readily he adapted to American Customs as he demonstrates his fielding prowess during a varsity baseball team practice.

Jose Verdiell, Hobart's second foreign exchange student, came to HHS from San Francisco, Argentina.

While here, Jose lived with the former Mayor Pflughoeft and family.

The school year for Jose meant hard work in English, history, government, speech, A Cappella, and athletics. But his diligence paid off in May as he was made an honorary member of National Honor Society.

During the year he took part in Student Council. On Government Day he was a councilman, and in the Yohannaire, he sang with the A Cappella.

Football, Jose's favorite spectator sport, could only be topped by baseball for Jose was on the varsity baseball team.

Before leaving the United States, Jose, along with 3,000 other exchange students, traveled to the New York World's Fair and enjoyed a special conference with President Johnson.

As for Jose's future, he will return to Argentina and complete four months of high school. He plans to enter the University of Cordoba in October to study medicine.

Basketball Game Builds Concession Stand

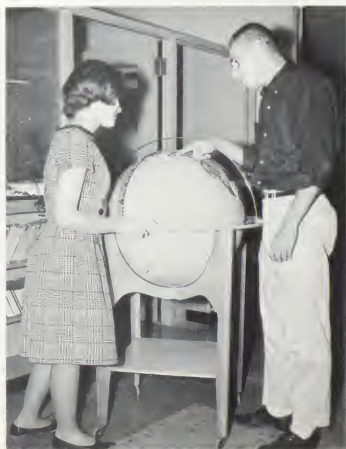

Mayor Ivan Hiestand of the Purple Party and Clerk-treasurer Cynthis Stefanchik of the Gold Party provided the leadership for this year's Student Council.

The purpose of the Hobart Senior High Student Council is to give the student an opportunity to express his opinions in the government of himself and his fellow students.

To start the year off the Student Council held a "Get Acquainted Party" on September 23. On March 12, 13, & 14, the Council sponsored its annual talent show, "Yohannaire," to raise the money for a scholarship for a deserving senior.

School Courtesy Week, which was in February, an open Student Council meeting, noontime recreation, such as the juke box, Turnabout Day and dance were some of the many projects sponsored by this active club. Government Day, held in April, and Donkey Basketball, held February 15 are two more of the activities of the Council. The profits from the basketball game went toward building a new concession stand on the football field.

"So there it is!" exclaims Cindy Stefanchik, clerk-treasurer as mayor, Ivan Hiestand paints to Kodiak Island in Alaska.

and Interest in Athletics

The Girl's Athletic Association, having a membership of over a hundred, promoted a keen interest in girls' athletics and good sportsmanship. Volleyball, deck tennis, cage ball, tumbling, and many other sports helped the members to achieve physical fitness.

On November 27 the G.A.A. inducted 66 members who earned the necessary 20 points by attending girls' intramurals for six weeks.

Participating in "Donkey Basketball," sponsoring a movie "The Art of Figure Skating," going bowling and taking lessons in modern dancing were a few of the activities the girls took part in.

The G.A.A. did not restrict itself to athletic activities, however. Glittered skates, stars and snowballs decorated the cafetorium for the semi-formal held December 7. Part of the profits went toward the G.A.A. scholarship that was awarded to a student who is majoring in physical education and has completed one year of college work.

A G.A.A. banquet held in May was the last activity the club sponsored.

The officers of the G.A.A. were: president, Betsy Hawke; Karen Mueller vice-president; Joyce Daniels, treasurer; and Shirley Springman, secretary.

The officers were: Barbara Shirey, president; Debby Grase, vice-president; Kathy Rebo, Secretary; and Elaine Webb, treasurer.

The Booster Club is one of Hobart's largest and oldest clubs. Besides having a booster block at each athletic event, home and away, they sponsored the annual coronation of the football and basketball homecoming queens, and also the selling of "Brickie" license plates.

The purpose of the Booster Club is to create good sportsmanship, school spirit, and support for the school in all athletic events. By doing this Hobart High maintained its high standard of sportsmanship.

The officers were, Barbara Shirey, president; Debby Grase, vice-president; Kathy Ryba, secretary; and Elaine Webb, treasurer. The sponsors, Mr. Faye and Mrs. Judy Harder, helped to retain the standards set by the Booster Club constitution.

The Debuteens devoted their time toward better social and service advancements. It was one of the largest organizations in the high school.

In September the Debs sponsored their annual coke party for new members, and they held their candlelight initiation.

Buzz books, a helpful aid in locating names, addresses and telephone numbers of every student in Hobart High were sold by the girls. A new service was the sending of get well cards to students and teachers who had been absent for a long period of time.

A dress convocation was held October 21 in the cafetorium. Both the wrong and right way of dressing were demonstrated by the Debs. They also sponsored an after-game dance on February 21.

Among the number of different drives, were the bundle drive and the apple drive for leukemia in October. The proceeds from the carnations sold on Dress-up Day in April were given to the cancer association. This Club completed their year with a banquet to announce the forthcoming officers in May.

The entertainment for the feasting "Romans" was a skit.

Librarians Learn By Job Experience

Officers of the Librarians Club for the year 1963-1964 were: Secretary, Janet Buchko, President, Sandy Wagenstien; V. President, Mary Matsy and Treasurer Karen Riek.

Members of the Librarians Club took an active part in running the school library. The duties the girls performed enabled them to learn the library technique of filing, marking, and repairing books. Along with this, the girls learned to associate with people and to help them. The club members worked in the library during the morning, noon, and after school. A few girls worked in the library one period a day assisting Mrs. Bailey, the club sponsor and school librarian.

A few of the many activities of the librarians this year included working in the snack bar, taking care of the showcase just outside the library and sending books through BOOKS USA to an underdeveloped country to teach the American principles.

Points were earned by the members for performing the duties and for taking part in the activities. After receiving the required points, the girls received a letter "H" or an octagon.

Honorary Promotes Better Journalism

Quill and Scroll was Habart's only international merit honor society. Dating back to 1826, this organization was started for the purpose of encouraging and rewarding individual achievement in journalism.

This chapter of Quill and Scroll worked in the snack bar in February and held a formal initiation in May. The officers lit candles representing truth, leadership, learning, loyalty, judgment, and friendship at the initiation. These qualities stood for the obligations that journalists give to society. The new members received club pins and a subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine.

Club members were required to rank in the upper third of their class; moreover, the student must have done supreme work in some phase of journalism, either yearbook or newspaper.

The officers for the Quill and Scroll were Jeneane Frole, President; Coyle Gleason, Vice President; Christine Bryant, Treasurer; Alon Dickson, Historian; and Mary Matsey, Secretary.

Cadet Teaching Practiced by F.T.A.

Future Teachers of America Club, whose members were juniors and seniors, was created for students seriously interested in the teaching profession.

Same F.T.A. members took cadet teaching at the junior high, senior high or at a near-by elementary school. Here they got a close look at the profession and decided whether to go on further to become a teacher.

This club joined with the F.B.L.A. to make a float for the homecoming game, entitled "Block'em Bricks." It came in third place.

Many members attended the district and state conventions. In order to make possible a scholarship was awarded to worthy senior who is going into the teaching profession.

To become a member, interested students put in an application and are chosen by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service and character.

Pat Phillips and Mary Matsey served as reporters for the state newspaper—"The Blackboard." The organization's sponsors were Mr. Bryan Reed and Mr. Robert Hunt.

FBLA Students Attend Convention

"Students today, leaders tomorrow" was one of the main slogans of Hobart High School's Future Business Leaders of America under the guidance of Miss Helen Hopp and Mrs. Harder.

The FBLA's main project this year was to attend the state convention at Ball State Teacher's College. Here students from every part of the state widened their views concerning business and its career. At the convention talent show, the Hobart girls presented Alley Cats, the same dance performed in the Yohannaire by the Girl Staters.

Some of their other projects included a homecoming float with the FTA club, after game dance, and working in the snack bar. The highlight of the Club's year was the winning the state spelling contest. Hobart's 3 man team was Lynn Sheets, Robin Poulter, and Tom Palas.

The club's main purpose were to establish leadership, further business interest, and to build better business leaders.

The officers of the FBLA were Carol Fiester, president; Judy Swim, vice-president; Marsha Longacre, secretary; Carol Mills, treasurer; Miss Hopp and Mrs. Harder, sponsors.

For the third consecutive year, the Future Nurses of America Club has allowed girls interested in the field of medicine to explore opportunities and requirements in this field.

This year the members were invited to visit the Gary Methodist Hospital and Walter Memorial Hospital located in Chicago. At the Hospital they were given a tour of the wards and heard speeches by student nurses.

The club found it necessary to work in the snack bar to earn the money for a scholarship that will be awarded next year to a worthy member. Pins, with the cademus, were ordered and distributed.

Officers of the F.N.A. were: Linda Ribo, Jonet Scharbach, Roberta Pioski, Karen Williams, Sharon Pope.

This year the Astronomy Club increased its active membership and number of meetings. Their meetings were held bi-weekly on Thursday evenings.

Visitors found the stargazers' activities interesting for both beginners and more experienced astronomers alike. The meetings consisted of a short business session followed by a lecture period.

The members took turns looking up facts and doing research projects to be presented at the meetings. Mr. Dean, the club sponsor, added greatly to the meetings with his informal discussions of the things he learned while on an astronomy scholarship to the University of California the previous summer.

Also rounding out the program were frequent evening sessions where the members observed the skies.

The members of the club observed and photographed both the solar eclipse of July 1963 and the lunar eclipse of December 1963.

Some of their programs this year included: ham radio operation, chemistry experiments, physics, and biology demonstrations.

The funds from Walgreen's Day were then used to furnish entertainment and decorations for a Charity Toy Dance. This year's dance furnished several hundred toys, which were turned over to the Salvation Army and then distributed to needy children.

Another project of the Art Club this year was the sale of graduation dolls that sold for one dollar.

The membership of the Art Club is kept small in order to get students interested in art rather than social activities. Their meetings are long, ranging from 2 to 3 hours weekly, and are similar in nature to an art class, only more casual.

The officers of the Art Club were Robert Addison, vice-president; Emil Pilbeon, president; Virginia Wilson, secretary-treasurer.

"Lights . . . Camera . . . Action," A-V Motto

"Lights, camera, action" may well be the motto of Hobart High School's Audio-Visual Club. The club members got everything in readiness for the action.

Their main duties were: setting up the necessary equipment for the convocations and pep sessions, keeping audio and visual aids in order, and running films and projectors when they were needed. This year they were in charge of the FM music played during lunch in the cafetorium.

The Audio-Visual's main project this year was to standardize the school's connector system for less difficulty.

This year's officers were: Jim Redar, director; Gary Addison, technical director; Wayne Carpenter, audio director and John Friedlein, visual director. The members received recognition for their work by obtaining Audio-Visual letters to wear on their jackets. The club was sponsored by Mr. Moody, school principal.

The choir performed at the annual Pop Concert and sang selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." At Christmas the A Cappella presented their own concert featuring "A Ceremony of Carols" and other traditional carols.

Members of the A Cappella brought home three first division ratings from the state music contest. The members of the Madrigal singers received one of the first place ratings. This group of choir members was selected by audition and usually includes 14 of the best singers in A Cappella. The Girl's Ensemble and Cheryl Tarnow, soloist, won the other two first place ratings.

Hobart joined with five other area choirs to present a Choral Festival at the Crown Point High School gym in March. There were 350 voices in the mass chorus consisting of the choirs of Highland, Merrillville, Portage, Calumet, Crown Point, and Hobart. The mass chorus sang six numbers and each choir sang three solo numbers. Hobart presented "Sing, Sing," "Ave Verum," and "Little Red Caboose." The guest director for the Festival was Mr. Robert Kingsbury.

The choir finished the year by performing at a spring concert with the Treble Choir at the Gary Campus Extension and at Baccalaureate.

Keep Spirits High

Thirty-eight senior, junior, and sophomore girls composed this year's Treble Choir. To provide an opportunity for talented girls to develop their singing abilities, to achieve an appreciation for good choral literature, and to be able to perform in public were the goals the choir reached.

Among the events they performed in were the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter convocations. The Christmas convocation, held December 16, was dedicated to the late Georgiann Murphy. This year the Treble Choir went Christmas caroling through the halls in the high school.

In January at the district contest a group consisting of Janet Buchko, Sherry Oswald, Linda Painter, Crystal MacNeil, Karen Flatt and Nancy Fay won first place. They received a second place award in the state contest.

The Treble Choir closed the year with a spring program given May 15 with the A Cappella Choir.

The officers for the Treble Choir were Linda Painter, librarian; Crystal MacNeil, student director; Nancy Fay, secretary-treasurer; and Carol Keller, robe mistress.

At the homecoming game, the band won first place for its float, "Beat'em."

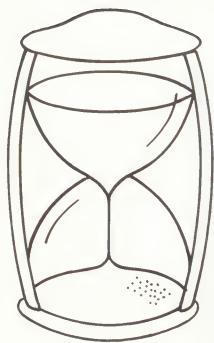

In the early spring the band went on a tour to Atherton, Kentucky, and gave a concert there. Several weeks later Hobart High was entertained by a visit from the Atherton band students.

In late April, the band went to the annual state band contest where Hobart placed first in the AA class for the 36th year in a row.

The year was climaxed by the band receiving new uniforms from the band mothers.

Campaign Parade Starts Activities

Cannie Dragovich, Mary Shaw, and Nancy Walker are shown congratulating Cindi after the election.

After the long hard campaign some of their many friends congratulated Ivan and Cindi.

The 1964 campaign for the election of mayor and clerk-treasurer resulted in a split victory. Cindi Stefan-chink, gold party candidate for clerk-treasurer, and Ivan Heistand, purple party candidate for mayor, were chosen to lead their school.

The purple and gold parade was the high point in the election. The candidates led their supporters through town and back to the school. This gave the students a chance to participate in the campaigns.

The opposition to Cindi was Micki Garber, running with Ivan Heistand on the purple ticket and the opposition to Ivan was Roger Norris on the gold party ticket.

The many students who turned out to give the campaign the extra push it needed.

Before the start of the parade a parent checks Roger and Cindi's car.

Starting off the campaign parade are Ivan and Micki with Roger and Cindi in the next car.

Captain John McKuhen proved to be the high point man for the Brickies with 75 points; garnering firsts for Hobart in every meet during the season. Jon Stafford placed second with 61 points and was followed in order by Dwight Mathis, 36; John Hittlebaugh, 32; Tony Didonna, 22; Dick McOmber, 15; Lloyd Trumbo, 14; Bruce Leinback, 2; and Jerry Reitz, 1 1/4 points. Returning as the nucleus for next year's team are Hittlebaugh, Didonna, Trumbo, Leinback, and Reitz.

With the retirement of Coach Frank Kurth from track, a successful track season contained a note of sadness as the congenial coach ended 24 years of track coaching at Hobart. Kurth will remain as athletic Director and coach cross-country.

The 1964 campaign was the 24th winning season in succession for Kurth as the Brickies compiled a nine won-three loss record in scored meets.

Hobart won three out of four indoor meets, including the Crown Point Invitational for the eighth time in nine years.

Outdoors, the Brickies raced to four major relays titles including the LaPorte Relays which capped the season for the cindermen.

Individually, Hobart qualified two men for the state finals while capturing third in the Gary Sectional and fifth in the Gary Regional. Junior Bob Grudzinski placed second in the high hurdles and third in the low hurdles, while Senior Skip Chandler won a fifth in the pole vault.

Brickie golfers have seen better seasons than that which they experienced this year. Coach Fay Trammell's golfers finished the season with a 7-9 record, including three dual wins and one total triangular victory.

Trammell's crew posted dual wins over Dyer, River Forest, and Gary Roosevelt. The Brickies posted their only total triangular victory over East Chicago Washington and E. C. Roosevelt at the beginning of the season for the Bricks. Hobart's victory came at its own course, Cressmoor Country Club.

The other two Hobart wins came in triangulars as the Bricks split the Andean meet by dropping River Forest but losing to Andean. Hobart divided its own triangular by taking the measure of Chesterton and dropping the Merrillville match.

Seniors Have Moments To Remember

On September 5, 1961, a group of timid and very important sophomores entered the doors of Hobart High School. They spent, what proved to be, the most delightful and memorable years of their lives.

As juniors they planned the Junior-Senior Prom, ordered senior sweaters and sweatshirts, and chose Victor's as the studio to take their senior pictures.

This year Ivan Hiestand was elected to preside over the Student Council, and Susan Schuemann was selected to reign as basketball homecoming queen.

"Smash the Hornets" was the theme of the senior class float that won first place for having the most original theme.

February 14 was the date of the senior class party, "Heart's Desire." Chairmen for the party were Paula Dexter, Mary Matsey, Nancy Taylor, Ted Bonich, and Jeff Pence.

The seniors gladly participated in Senior Appreciation Week, Sneak Day, and Government Day.

Yes, now it is over and the seniors breathe a sigh of relief, even though each one is a little sorrowful about leaving dear old Hobart High.

Juniors Collect

The Class of 1965 sets its goals high and accomplished them in the many activities in which it participated during the school year. During the summer the class sponsored a car wash in order to raise the needed funds for the long awaited Junior-Senior Prom. The juniors chose "Aqua Mirage" as the theme for the Prom.

Other activities in which the juniors participated included: selection of senior photographer, selection of senior sweaters and sweat-shirts, planning of the Junior-Senior Prom, and decorating the cafeteria for Christmas.

Reigning as king and queen of "Silhouettes," the class party, was Jody Woods and Susy Smith. Making up the royal court were Marsha Hinson, Sally Jacobson, Dennis Donaldson, Ken Rittenmeyer, and Bob Kuchenberg.

At the football Homecoming game, Junior Barb Shirey was crowned queen, and reigned over the after-game dance. The junior candidate for basketball Homecoming queen was Marilyn Green.

A member of the junior class, Mary Ann McCullough, was chosen as an AFS student to New Zealand. Mary Ann was chosen because of outstanding grades, and the fine leadership she showed among her classmates.

The class motto is: "Tread not the well worn path but make your own." Its colors are kelly green and white, and the class flower is the American beauty rose. Sponsoring the class of '65 was Mr. Wayne Collins.

Officers for the class of 1965 were Ken Block, president; Susie Smith, Secretary; Bob Hamilton, vice-president; and Sandy Davis, treasurer.

Sophomores Pick '1966'

The Sophomore Class showed its fine school spirit and enthusiasm by the many activities they were a part of in the school year of 1963-1964. During their first year at the Senior High School, they displayed their fine school spirit in being part of the cheering block which was present at every game and helped cheer the boys on.

The magazine drive, the selecting and ordering of class rings, the decorating of the offices for Christmas, the nomination of Clerk-Treasurer of the Student Council, working in the concession stand, and the Sophomore girls' In-Out game were just a few of the many activities the Sophomores worked hard for to make the year a success.

Among the projects for raising funds for their treasury, the class of '66 sponsored an after-game dance on November 1, 1963 in the cafeteria.

Mary Davies was the sophomore candidate for basketball Homecoming queen. Mary was chosen by her classmates.

Maintaining a straight A average throughout the year were: Jerry Marler, Bonnie Empey, and Jeff Garmong.

The class motto is: "To have a friend, be one." Its colors are maroon and navy blue, and its flower is the Yellow Tea Rose. Mrs. Flora Cox was the Class of 1966's sponsor.

As a member of the Senior Class, very soon you will be making a decision regarding a big step into the future. Perhaps your decision will be to go on for further education. Or it may be, you will be looking for the job of your choice. In either event, this decision will affect and shape your future life in many ways.

Regardless of what you decide, we hope that the Inland Steel Company will be a part of your future. Many graduates are currently involved in successful careers here at the Harbor Works as part of the nation's basic steel industry.

Steel mill work today is highly complex, involving automated production lines which require people who can be trained in skilled jobs. Most of the jobs are involved directly in the steel-making process while others are available in the laboratories or in various departmental offices. Regardless of your interests, excellent opportunities exist with Inland Steel.

In addition to excellent paying jobs and an outstanding benefit program, Inland offers a variety of on-the-job training programs plus the Purdue-Inland Program. This Program, offered to a full time employee, provides training in the areas of steelmaking, mechanics, and electricity.

Plan now to investigate the many opportunities for your future with Inland Steel Company.

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop strategies to meet the needs of older people, and to ensure that they are able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the development of age-friendly communities, and the establishment of age-friendly networks.

Age-friendly communities are communities that are designed to be accessible and inclusive for older people. They are communities that offer a range of services and facilities that meet the needs of older people, and that encourage them to participate in community life.

Age-friendly networks are networks of organisations and individuals that work together to promote the well-being of older people. They provide a range of services and support, and they encourage older people to participate in community life.

The development of age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks is a key priority for many governments and organisations. It is essential that we develop strategies to meet the needs of older people, and to ensure that they are able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible.

There are a number of factors that can contribute to the development of age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks. These include the availability of services and facilities, the accessibility of the built environment, and the social and cultural climate of the community.

It is essential that we take a holistic approach to the development of age-friendly communities and age-friendly networks. We need to consider the needs of older people in all aspects of community life, and we need to ensure that they are able to participate fully in all aspects of community life.

There are a number of ways in which we can promote the well-being of older people. We can provide a range of services and support, we can encourage older people to participate in community life, and we can create a social and cultural climate that is inclusive and welcoming to older people.
